****** Denver, 6. Utah, 24.

Eleven trained athletes, selected for their knowledge and past experience in the great college sport of football, representing the Denver university, met a crushing defeat at Cummings field yesterday afternoon. A crowd of ten, fifteen and twenty by Bennion, that comes near being a record-breaker Russell, Peterson and Brown, and a for an early season game saw eleven men gathered from all parts of the country on account of their physical perfection, and for months carefully groomed under the eyes of paid coaches Utah for last year's defeat, again succumb to a better team. Without any regard to their standing as students in the school they represent, they came to Utah confident of victory, and after two hours of the fiercest struggle this state has ever seen, the Methodist school of learning in Denver had to bow its head to Utah's chief institution f learning in the great game of foot-

"Maddock" the Solution.

When one comes to solve the prob-ments to soft with the soft and all the form of the form of the soft and the soft a for a touch down. It was all over within 39 seconds from the sound of the whistle, and it was several seconds before the big crowd could understand what happened.

Bennion probably did the best work for Utah, as it was his weight that carried him through mang a tight place. Peterson, Erown and Russell also did what happened.

the goal. From that moment, Mad-dock's men began to realize they were in a football game, and they force. line the like of which has never been seen in this state. They battered the big Denver team with series after series of fast-moving plays that completely puzzled the men who could have crushed the Utahns if they had once every inch of the ground she lost. Now and then it would come Denver's turn to fight back and by sheer force Utah would be compelled to give ground until the tide again set in its favor.

Utah's Weakness in Line.

Utah has one great weakness. It is her line. Give Maddock material to mend the few weak spots in his line and Utah football fans need have no fear of the future. Denver discovered early in the game that the left side of Utah's team was in bad shape, and it was against this spot that Captain Fohey directed his giants. It was here he made his gains. It was here the 230-bound Ashby was sent for one-half the of the game better off than Utah. distance gained by Denver in the whole 70 minutes play. When distance was needed to save the ball it was always Ashby who was called out of the line to turn the trick. Then it was merely a case of push, in which weight and

On the offensive Utah's line could not hold and "Cuddy" Russell, one of the greatest ground gainers on the 'varsity feam, was stopped time after time for a loss back of the line. The line made Maddock's famous wing shift ineffective. Thrice it was tried and only once was any distance gained.

The game was strictly one of end Neither could gain by adoptin the other's tactics. It was the only chance either had to win, and Utah's were longer and more frequent-hence the Utah team won. This can readily be seen by the distance made by the different players. Ten yards by Ashby plowing through right tackle was the afferent players. Ten yards by Ashby nowing through right tackle was the largest number of yards made by Denver in a scrimmage. Another time he gained eight yards on the same play: largest number of yards made by Dengained eight yards on the same play: same and fought to win" while for Utali forty-five and thirty-

"Fake Cross Back" a Winner.

Perhaps the prettiest play of the day was worked twice by Utah. It was what Maddock calls a "fake cross-back." In this he shifted Peterson back as if to start the play for the right end of his line. Instead, a quick opening in the left side of the line let Bennion through for his two long runs, both of which resulted in a touchboth of which resulted in a touch-down. The hole in the line in each instance was large enough to throw a barn through, and Bennion plowed down the field without any of the opposing players touching him.

One of the surprises of the day was the condition of the men. It was thought Denver's glants would be the first to weeken but it was just the resistance.

It was Denver's only score of the day and it was the only time Denver's giants came within striking distance of back play was missed. Varley, weight back play was missed. Varley, weight 170, at center, surprised many by the way he handled himself against the 240 pounds of Captain Foley. It was supposed that Denver would make big gains through Varley, but they failed to materialize. Ray and Herbst, both youngsters, played with grit and determination, but both are still lacking in experience. Pitt was not himself yesterday and did not play in his usual good form. This was probably due to a severe jolt he got early in the game. way he handled himself against the 240 pounds of Captain Foley. It was supposed that Denver would make big gains through Varley, but they failed

Anderson and E. Bennion were entirely too light to compete against the men of Denver's team and had a hard row to hoe to keep from being knocked off the gridiron. Scranton, Harris and Sutton were put in the game during its progress. They fought against men twice their size and could not be ex-pected to accomplish wonders. Scran-ton, however, did some ~ood work in the back field, catching kicks and running them back.
